

The Royal Australasian
College of Physicians

The NSW Stem Cell Network, Australian Stem Cell Centre & Stem Cells Australia
proudly present

Stem Cells and their Clinical Applications: Now & Future

WHO

Dr Bernie Tuch is using stem cells to find a β cell therapy for type I diabetes. He is an endocrinologist in private practice, a stem cell scientist and the Director of the NSW Stem Cell Network.

WHERE

Royal Australasian College of Physicians,
145 Macquarie St, Sydney.

WHEN

Tuesday, Sept 6th, 2011
6.30 - 7.00pm: Registrations and Refreshments
7.00 - 9.00pm: Presentations and Discussion

R.S.V.P to Sarah Mustafa at s.mustafa@stemcellnetwork.org.au By Tue, 30th of August, 2011. For more information, please visit our site at www.stemcellnetwork.org.au. This presentation is supported by a grant from the Royal Australasian College of Physicians and can be used to assist physicians in CPD.

